Command Alkon to Showcase New Technologies and A New Face at Intermat / World of Concrete Europe

Paris Show offers the Latest Innovations, A Chance to Engage with Industry Peers, and An Opportunity to See Industry Equipment Live and in Action

Command Alkon, the global leader in integrated software and technology solutions for the heavy building materials industry, is delighted to exhibit at Intermat / World of Concrete Europe. Every three years, industry players working in construction and infrastructure gather at this show to discover breakthrough trends and technological innovations in products, applications, and equipment. Attendees can participate in live demos, collaborate with other industry professionals, and gain more knowledge about best practices within the industry.

“The Command Alkon team is excited to welcome you to our exhibition space and we are ready to answer any questions you may have about the industry and our solutions,” said Gael Lhopital, Operations Manager at Command Alkon. “We are pleased to present the latest developments, advise on best practices, and offer demonstrations so that you can see our solutions in action.”
